

Grant Funding/Research Support Application Guide

- To begin the grant application process, please review Imago Relationships International's current research projects and note the types of projects that we support/fund.
- In addition, we also urge you to read this entire document. Our review process is thorough and comprehensive, and the information below will help you better understand our approach to grant making and research support.
- Once you have completed both of these steps, you are ready to submit Letter of Inquiry

What Imago Relationships International Funds/Supports

Imago Relationships International is committed to developing and supporting the research of Imago Relationship Therapy. The purpose of the research fund is to make money available for small grants for worthy, publishable peer-reviewed research to expand the scientific basis of Imago Relationship Therapy. The funds can be used for study expenses or to make small purchases of materials or technology necessary for the research project. You may also wish to inquire about non-financial support that includes consultation by an Imago Relationships International Research Committee member.

To that end, Imago Relationship International supports research that involves the use of Imago Therapy and any aspect of Imago Therapy that is explicitly described by its founder, research that evaluates the impact Imago Therapy has on individuals, couples, and other systems over a wide range of impact variables including outcome studies of workshops and in-office treatment regimes, neuroscience and biological studies involving Imago Relationship Therapy; and the use of Imago Relationship Therapy with specific diagnostic categories and its effect on positive outcomes.

What Imago Does Not Fund/Support

- Scholarships / tuition assistance for undergraduate, graduate, or postgraduate studies
- Annual fundraising drives
- Institutional benefits
- Supplemental income
- Capital improvements
- Large purchases

Applying for Grant Funding/Research Support

Once you have closely reviewed research that Imago Relationships International has developed and funded/supported as well as that which is not funded/supported, the next step is to submit a Letter of Inquiry to info@imagorelationships.org.
